The 1969 Aerie

Presented By

The Senior Class

Mt. Abraham Union High School
Bristol, Vermont

"And now another word from our sponsor."

"So ends another day in the salt mines."

"Well, what do you expect for the first year?"

"Joyce is the school detective?"

"A typical Mt. Abe assembly!"

"We knew that all that poetry in Senior English would take its toll!"

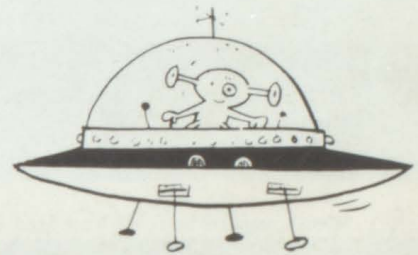

"1-2-3—JUMP!"

Well, if we're gonna go, we might as well go together.

Did you say omnibus?

You like poetry? You've got to be kidding!

The red carpet for them??

"All right Barry, no more of those crude jokes."

"Look, Ma, no hands!"

"Don't wait to be told! You need Palmolive Gold!"

"I hear he's starring in Peter Pan."

"Yes, I have rheumatism in my fingers, too."

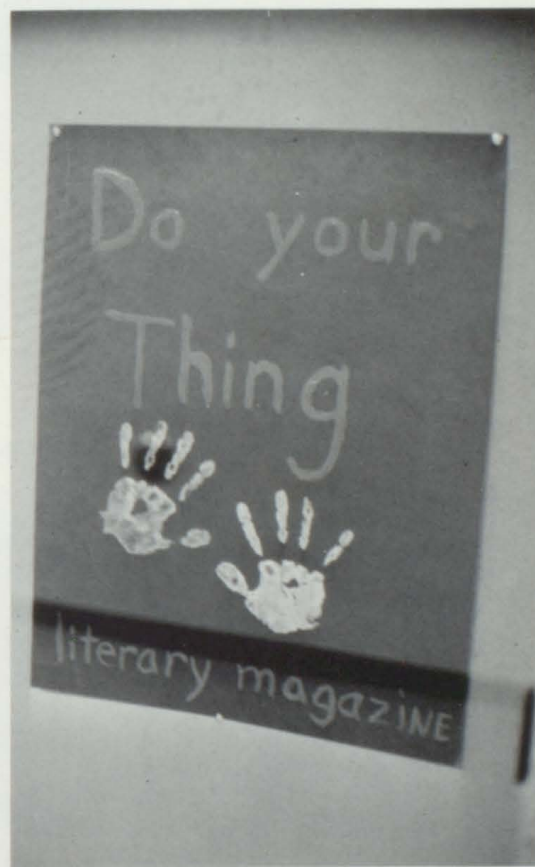

"MINE!"

"Spud Hill—Whoops! Mt. Abraham."

"Are you two skipping Bookkeeping again?"

"That Kid is loose with the finger paints again!"

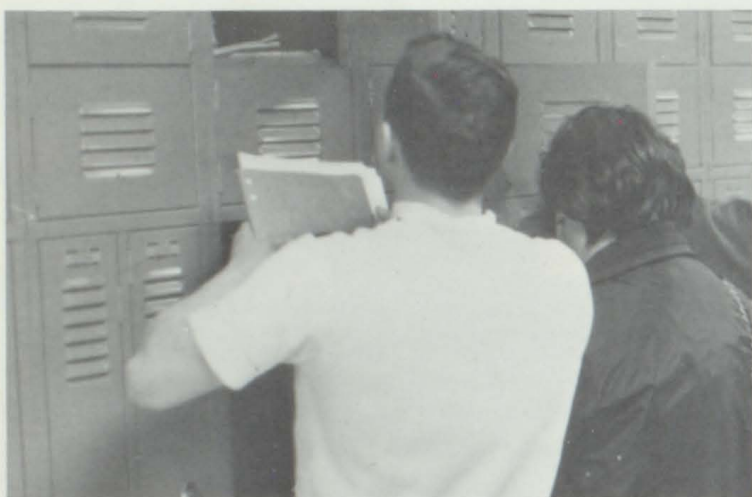

"All we have to do is feed it and wind it up."

"I hear the School Board hasn't approved this part yet!"

"If you aren't out here in five seconds, I'm coming in after you."

"Loitering, soliciting, and studying prohibited in this library."

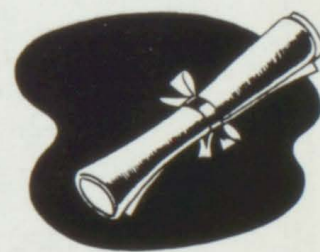

"Look at that madly cheering crowd. It must be a girls' game!"

Superintendent's Message

The graduating class of 1969 from Mt. Abraham Union High School has become a milestone in the history of the school. There is a definite distinction in being the first or last to graduate from a high school. I trust you will honor the school for which so many have worked so hard and so long to provide for the boys and girls of this area. My sincere congratulations to each and every member of the Class of 1969.

Ernest M. Coddington, Sr.
Superintendent of Schools

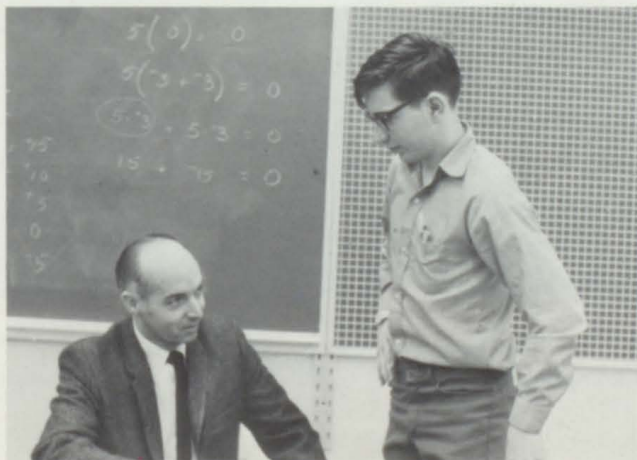

— Principal —
Mt.
Abraham
Union
High School

Mr. W. Neal Hoadley

Many changes have occurred during the years of your participation in public school education. Perhaps none will have more impact upon you personally and upon your communities than the new Union High School. The leadership by the members of the Class of 1969 should have a positive effect upon the classes that will succeed you. I trust that you will look back over the pages of the Aerie with pride in your accomplishments and confidence in your future.

The great American cover-up?!

Blue, Navy Blue . . .

Stairway to the stars!

They said this thing was easy enough to run that a 10-year-old could do it! Let's go down to the grade school and get a 10-year-old!

The Lookout exists to train students in responsibility, in leadership, and in observation, as well as in good writing habits. The Newspaper's primary function is to keep the student body informed, enlightened, and amused. Staff members also learn some of the basics of journalism.

Literary Magazine

The Literary Magazine was organized in order to publish the best work written by the students. The pupils, who run the Magazine, decide which material will be printed. As the administration finances the group, the staff distributes the Literary Magazine to the student body with no charge.

Chess Club

This organization was formed solely for the enjoyment of those people who like the game of chess. The Club meets once a week, when the members participate in prearranged matches. As the students play more and more games, a final winner emerges. To this person goes the honor of being the Club's champion player.

Debate Club

The Debate Club trains students to think quickly and logically. Student members must develop self-control, for a belligerent debater loses points in any contest. This Club also helps the students learn how to speak before an audience without being self-conscious.

Folk Music Society

This organization provides an opportunity for students with an interest in folk music to listen to, to play, and to sing it. Meetings are held informally, with small groups of people centered on different forms of music. Instruments played by members include primarily guitars, with an occasional banjo, harmonica, or kazoo. Plans for the future are to focus each meeting around one particular form of music or folk artist in order to get a greater awareness of the various kinds of folk music.

Classical Guitar

The members of this club meet once a week to explore ways to improve their own playing. They listen to and study the techniques of many great guitarists. The use of the guitar to reflect national characteristics and the construction of different styles of guitars teach more understanding of this unique instrument.

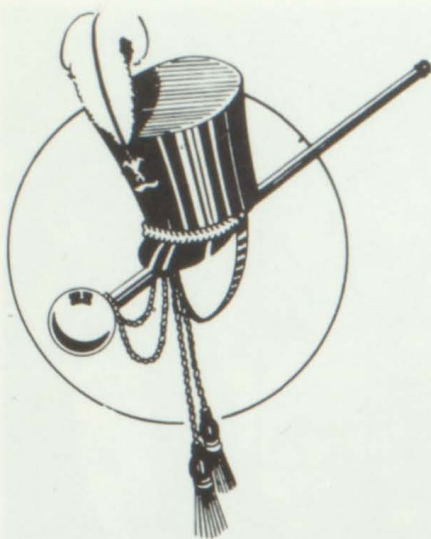

Chorus

It has been said that some education in the arts is necessary for a well educated person. Participation in a high school chorus program makes students alert to the aesthetic qualities in music through experiences with making music. As the student is guided toward musical independence, he is learning through association with the qualities to be found in music.

Taking part in a school chorus also contributes to educational goals other than the ones mentioned. It encourages teamwork among the students, development of character, emotion release, social or group adjustment. The benefit gained from performing in front of an audience is inestimable. This should not indicate that participation in chorus is strictly to entertain. Rather, it is first of all a school subject, and, in common with other subjects in the school, it seeks to teach the students.

Choir

The Band has been quite busy this year. Members are practicing twice weekly, in preparation for their first concert. Certain students are working to form a pep group to play at school games. Exchange concerts are a major goal of this organization. Band officers join forces with the director in forming new musical groups, such as a proposed pop band.

Second row: Vicki Champine, Cindy Sherwin, Marjorie Haines, Debbie Danyow, Vicki Boise, Lorraine Pierce, Margaret Whitcomb, Debera Brown, Patty Laberge, Jill Rathburn, Cindy Hanson.

Drama Society

The members of this group are interested in all aspects of the theater. Much of this interest is heightened by the extensive stage facilities, where students can work in make-up, in lighting, in set construction, and in production planning. Drama workshops for group members and with other schools have increased enthusiasm in and understanding of the theater. The Drama Club works closely with the Theater Arts class, which is a part of the regular curriculum.

First row: Maurice Cousino, Bonita Hanson, Barbara Bushey, Anne Paquette, Calvin Tierney.
Second row: Maureen Wright, Kevin Corkins, Gary Cousino, Elizabeth Shattuck.

The Student Council functions for the benefit of the entire school. Its main project this year has been to draw up a constitution. As a vital link between the student body and the administration, the Student Council exists for the betterment of communication between the two.

This Club has a two-fold purpose. It serves the teachers and students of the school by providing several qualified projectionists, and the member students have an opportunity to learn how to operate projectors of all kinds. The students also have charge of the welfare of the machines. As a member grows in responsibility he may be allowed a full-time post as an assistant whose job is to ascertain that the Audio-Visual Room is always available to younger members.

The soccer team, coached by Mr. Donald, endeavors to represent Mt. Abe in meritorious fashion in that fast and furious game which is called football in Europe and the rest of the world. The Eagles went through a rather trying season in 1968, but there were a few shining lights, like Dennis Filion's selection to the All-Champlain Valley League first team at center and Eddie Cushman's designation on the second team at fullback. Mt. Abe also pulled off a rather stunning 1-0 victory over defending state champion Essex Junction High School at Essex to top off a slightly erratic premier campaign.

Ski Team

Mt. Abraham Union's first ski team performed in a fashion for which they are to be commended with medals for perseverance above and beyond the call of duty. Carrying only seven members throughout the majority of the year, the flying Eagles kept their heads up and consequently showed great promise for the future. Despite the lack of success attained this season, five of these stalwart seven will return next year, and the fortunes of Mr. Comegys' boys should improve a great deal.
